5 Simple Preparation Reminders to Simplify Your Next Title IV Compliance Audit or Program Review

By Karen Eilert, Compliance Manager

Your auditors will look for indications that any required functions are performed in a consistent and timely manner. It is important that everything provided within the audit is a reflection of those two qualities. This will take early planning and preparation in advance of the notification of the visit. Click here to read some key things to remind you for when that time comes.

Audits And Program Reviews: 10 Easy Ways To Prepare For The Big Review

We all have them. We all dread them. However, compliance audits and program reviews will be less painful through better preparation. Read the

The Exit, But Not The End. Exit Interviews Are Part Of The Process Not The End Of The Road.

It is common to feel like it is too late to do anything about the outcome of an audit by the time the exit interview comes around. However, professionalism and a general positive and helpful attitude during the exit interview may be reflected on the auditor's written report in their tone and perceptions. Keep this final exchange upbeat and remember these key points:

The Faces Behind the Audit

Spotlight on Dalton Cox, Senior Auditor

Dalton is becoming a familiar face in the career school arena. As senior auditor, he devotes 60-70% of his time to career school audits. He is often seen at NACCAS and other school conferences.

Dalton joined Salmon Sims Thomas in 2009. In addition to career schools & colleges, he has expertise in employee benefit plan audits, and nonprofit organizations. Dalton earned his Bachelor of Business Administration in Marketing from West Texas A & M University in 1999 and his Bachelor of Science in Accounting from University of Texas at Arlington in 2009.

Away from the office, Dalton enjoys spending time with his wife and 18 month old son, reading, and watching movies.
